

Staged explosion set for Bowmanville Sunday

Saturday, 28 January 2012 22:09 - Last Updated Saturday, 28 January 2012 23:54

A special effects team will be shaking up Clarington Sunday, as they set off a series of explosions as part of an upcoming production.

A large special effect explosion, with an accompanying fireball, will take place in Bowmanville near Holt Road and Highway 2 on January 29th, 2012.

According to the production team involved, the explosion will be very loud, and will be visible for several kilometers. A 2 km road grid will be closed for several hours on the afternoon of the 29th for the event.

Bowmanville residents are being warned ahead of time in an effort to prevent a flood of 911 calls.

{loadposition content_adsense}