

March break is here for Clarington parents and students, and for some that means a trip to a sunnier destination. However, the reality is that many of us don't pack up the family and jump on a flight south during the week, which means keeping the kids busy locally is essential.

Ontario Power Generation's Darlington Nuclear March Break Madness program, March 12 -16, 2012, gives Clarington parents access to a variety of events designed to inform and entertain their children during the week. The following events are planned:
